

GENB 7397: Business Modeling for Competitive Advantage

Cr. 3.0 (3.0-0). Prerequisites: graduate standing. The course deals with the practical application of management science techniques and modeling to solve complex problems. Aspects of decision making covered are: spreadsheet modeling, handling uncertainty, identifying objectives and alternatives, simulation, setting priorities, allocating resources, planning, resolving conflict and making group decisions.