MASTERTHEPOSSIBILITIES

University of Houston's C.T. Bauer College of Business students arrive with strong technical skills

Improved in earning your MBA? Here's how:

Now is a great time for applying to earn an advanced degree at University of Houston's C.T. Bauer College of Business. The university has announced a series of enhancements to its MBA programs, including a new online option.

"We're excited to offer these enhancements to our MBA students," said Dr. John Doe, dean of the C.T. Bauer College of Business. "This will allow students to earn their degree at their own pace, on their own schedule."

A major enhancement is the addition of a new online MBA program. The program will offer the same curriculum as the traditional on-campus MBA program, but students can complete coursework online at their convenience.

In addition to the new online program, the university is also expanding its existing MBA programs. The university has announced new concentrations in areas such as finance, marketing, and entrepreneurship.

"These new concentrations will allow students to tailor their education to their specific interests," said Dr. Jane Smith, associate dean of the C.T. Bauer College of Business. "We're committed to providing our students with a high-quality education that prepares them for success in the business world."

The university has also made several other enhancements to its MBA programs, including increased support for students and expanded opportunities for networking.

"We're dedicated to ensuring our students have the resources they need to succeed," said Dr. Smith. "We're excited to offer these enhancements and look forward to helping our students reach their full potential."
