

C. T. BAUER COLLEGE OF BUSINESS

Building Business Leaders

UNIVERSITY of HOUSTON

ON JULY 12, 2000, a sixty-year-old business school, formerly known as the College of Business Administration at the University of Houston, received the largest up-front award to any single college in the history of the University. C. T. "Ted" Bauer, co-founder of AIM Management Group, endowed the college with a gift of $40 million. The business school proudly took his name, becoming the C. T. Bauer College of Business. Ted Bauer's generosity and leadership fueled the transformation of Bauer College into a premier metropolitan business college.

Dean Warga

Under the stewardship of Dean Arthur D. Warga, Bauer College has focused on attracting and retaining world class faculty, developing innovative curriculum and establishing unique programs designed to bring students and business together. The results include an updated curriculum, twice the number of faculty, and targeted certificate programs in energy and finance that prepare Bauer graduates for success in a global economy.

Melcher Hall, Bauer College's home, received a complete renovation giving it a downtown corporate ambience. The lobby's neon ticker rotates current stock prices overhead while multiple flat-screen TVs on the media wall air CNN 24/7. The lobby is part of the AIM Center for Investment Management, deemed one of the best designed business school classrooms in the U.S. by American School and University magazine. The center includes the ticker, video wall, 16-station trading laboratory, 36-seat classroom, and 20-seat executive conference room. Plus, Bauer has WiFi access throughout and a Starbucks!

Today, the Bauer College of Business is on the path to greatness, fueled by a superb faculty, excellent staff, passionate alumni, brilliant students, generous business partners and visionary leaders dedicated to the future of our youth and our nation. Further, UH and Bauer have new construction and expansion plans underway. Bauer College is building the business leaders of tomorrow
