

Mahesh Joshi is a seasoned Global Business Executive with three decades of extensive Global business experience while working with Fortune 500 and USA stock market listed companies in following senior management roles

President Centrifugal Compression at Cameron,

Group President Energy at Circor and

General Manager for Heavy Industrial products at Ingersoll Rand

Mahesh has attended various institutions across the Globe for knowledge acquisition in various field of studies like Engineering, Management, Leadership, International relations and geopolitics.

Masters in International strategy and Diplomacy from London School of Economics

MBA from Murray State University, USA, with major in Investment Management

Mechanical Engineering from Delhi Technology University in India.

He has also attended the University of Oxford - Oxford Advanced Management and Leadership Program and Harvard business school for Advanced Management Program.

He has lived and worked in three continents, Europe, Asia, and North America. He has developed knowledge and appreciation of various cultures while travelling to more than 40 countries while managing global businesses. Mahesh is the host of the weekly radio show on the business channel of VoiceAmerica.com. "Global Business with Mahesh Joshi" has attracted more than 105,000 listeners and downloads from geographies all across the world.

He has been on the board of following companies across various continents.

Director Cameron-China

Chairman of the Board at CVC-China (Circor Energy

President and Chairman of the Board at Pibiviesse Srl-Italy

President and Chairman of the Board at De Martin Srl-Italy

Director Pipeline Engineering – UK