

OUR FACULTY IMPACT THE WORLD.

The C. T. Bauer College of Business has built a faculty of traditional academicians and former executives and entrepreneurs, providing a learning environment that extends beyond the classroom and into industry.

Funda Sahin, an associate professor of supply chain management, teaches undergraduate students at Bauer about supply chain control systems and logistics management, while leading scholarly research in her discipline. Sahin is also serving as program chair for the 44th Annual Decision Sciences Institute Meeting and recently published a paper on rolling horizon planning in supply chains in the International Journal of Production Research.
