

STUDY ABROAD: CHINA

SPRING BREAK, MARCH 10–16, 2019

SHENZHEN AND HONG KONG

To learn more, visit bauer.uh.edu/studyabroad

CLASSES:

Graduate students only

MANA 7353 Regional Issues in Global Management: Doing Business in China

Management Professor Dejun Tony Kong (3.0 CR)

MANA 7397 International Environment of Business

Management Clinical Assistant Professor Daniel Currie (3.0 CR)

COST: $2,450 per person

Includes:

- Welcome Reception Sunday evening
- Hotel Accommodations
 - Six nights, double occupancy
- Meals
 - Breakfast all days
 - Lunch four days
 - Dinner one day
- Guided city tours
- Company visits (4–5) and site tours

DOES NOT Include:

- Airfare
- Health insurance coverage
- UH tuition
- Voluntary excursions
- Gratuities
- Passport and visa processing
- Other meals

IMPORTANT:

- Participants must have a valid passport and Chinese visa. You can get your passport through the UH Learning Abroad office.
- Students are responsible for their own arrival and departure arrangements.
- WeChat will be used for communication during the trip.
- Scholarship opportunities are available to help fund your study abroad.

MORE STUDY ABROAD

BERLIN

Graduate students only

This trip is designed to allow students to experience the German culture as well as learn about doing business in Europe. Students may take two courses for up to six credit hours.

CHILE

Graduate students only

The Chile program provides students an opportunity to learn from senior management in Chilean companies who work in a global context. Students will learn about the Chilean economic model, why their economy is so dynamic and competitive, and have an opportunity to learn about operations through briefings and site visits.

NEW

PRAGUE

Undergraduate students only

This trip is designed to allow students to experience the culture of the Czech Republic, as well as learn about doing business in Eastern Europe. Students may take both courses for up to six credit hours. Both courses are online courses registered with distance education. The study abroad trip and an orientation session are mandatory course requirements.

To learn more, visit bauer.uh.edu/studyabroad